Indeed newensign

When the vaxx push started then, the NHS website carried a list of vaxx ingredients “for professionals”. The list had things like Genetically Modified DNA and Chimpanzee DNA and more…

When I pointed this out to my then mates, who I walked with every year on our annual trip to a British Isles National Trail, their response was “Humans are 98% the same a Chimps”!!

When I expressed amazement at this then they, shunned me. And, when the walks started again in 2023, I was told that I wasn’t welcome because I hadn’t been vaxxed!!

Ha ha ha, stupidity off the scale from 5 very intelligent guys who all had productive and responsible careers. 4 of them won’t even talk to me now, never mind walk with me. Oh well, no point in looking back with regret, je ne regrette rien…

I can sympafise with you Pete, I have experienced similar, but on a much smaller scale. In times of trouble, as they say, one finds out who one’s real friends are! Many people like scientists have a lot of knowledge but lack wisdom. There has been a suggestion that the vaccine has the ability to interfere with the mind to cause hatred against non vaxxed and it is planned when the time is right a signal will be sent causing the vaxxed to attack the non vaxxed!

LOL

#76 on my list of reasons “why I don’t hang out with jabbed people anymore – and honestly don’t miss them” is the quandary that it would put me in if they, in my general vicinity, were to collapse and go into cardiac arrest / stop breathing: because I will not provide CPR.

Callous ? You decide.

My life is a veritable triage of choices now.

I can appreciate this PKP, but one does not always know, if one is on a bus or being driven in a car if the driver has had a jab. Evidently since the rollout of the jab, traffic accidents have increased considerably!
